Endfest. The Coffeebreak Concerts. The list of now defunct Cleveland music festivals stretches as far as the Cuyahoga. Yet Studio-A-Rama endures! Now in its 27th year, WRUW is proud to present our annual FREE outdoor rock show featuring a national (or in this year's case, international) headliner supported by numerous local and regional bands.

This year, WRUW is proud to present The Sadies, from Toronto, Canada. Headliners from past Studio-A-Rama's include Naked Raygun, The New Bomb Turks, Guided By Voices, The Upper Crust, and U.S. Maple. The list of local bands who've played Studio-A-Rama is a veritable who's who of the Cleveland music scene, encompassing bands such as The Terrible Parade, Lords Of The Highway, Death Of Samantha, Boulder, The Greenhorns, Infinite Number Of Sounds, Bluto's Revenge, Geraldine, Nick Riff, The New Salem Witch Hunters, Jehrico Turnpike, Knifedance, The Revelers, Prisonshake, Coltrane Wreck, Psychobilly Cadillac, and on and on. No Cleveland festival supports local music as consistently as WRUW's Studio-A-Rama.

In turn, Studio-A-Rama is not possible without YOUR support. When you listen to WRUW, when you attend our events, when you pledge during our yearly telethon, you make Studio-A-Rama possible. Your support enables us to put on this show. Your support enabled us to increase our power to 15,000 watts. Your support enables us to webcast and archive our programming. So this year's festival, and really the entire 27-year run, is all made possible by you. We couldn't have done it without you. So enjoy The Sadies, Beatnik Termites and all the bands playing this year's Studio-A-Rama. You've earned it!

The Sadies ▲

Hailing from Toronto, Canada, the Sadies have been releasing music for 10 years, either on their own, or in collaboration with artists such as Neko Case, Blue Rodeo, and the Tragically Hip. Their music ranges from alt-country to garage rock to surf (they performed the soundtrack to "Rat Fink") to swampy R&B (the Sadies were the backing band for Andre Williams for his 1999 album "Red Dirt"). WRUW is delighted The Sadies bring their voluminous repertoire to the headlining slot on this year's Studio-A-Rama.

Beatnik Termites ►

Anyone with any knowledge of Cleveland music history MUST be aware of The Beatnik Termites. Formed in 1987 by a trio of CWRU students, The Beatnik Termites was a first wave Cleveland band playing well-crafted Ramonesinspired punk rock songs. Their first EP was released in 1989, with their first full length record following in 1993, the seminal "Taste the Sand!" drawing the blueprint for what would later be termed "pop punk". Numerous releases followed, including 2003's classic "Girl Crazy", followed by two years of continuous touring. Studio-A-Rama is proud to present the legendary Beatnik Termites in their first Cleveland appearance in 3 years!

rock has drawn comparisons to bands like The Mars Volta and Block Party.

The Lindsay ▼

Regional indie guitar band The Lindsay hails from Columbus, and consists of John Olexovitch on vocals and guitar, Gretchen Tepper on bass and vocals, Tom Schmidt on guitar, and James Lavery on drums. Drawing their inspiration from Pavement, Sloan, Sonic Youth, The Pixies/Breeders, and Nirvana, The Lindsay's guitar sound is sure to rock out this year's Studio-A-Rama.

Lines Across Lines ▲

Cleveland's Lines Across Lines has been building a local following over the last few years, playing venues like the Grog Shop and the Beachland. Featuring Chis Wright on vocals and guitar, Nate Kelmes on guitar, Michael Barber on bass and Jeff Hart on drums, Lines Across Lines' guitar Hollow combines elements of roots-rock folk with the rustbelt garage band sounds. Pale Hollow is the combination of two musical forces, the acoustic guitar sounds of ex-Jericho Turnpike bassist Michael Allen and the power pop leanings of guitarist Todd Thurman (Stereo Workers Union) and drummer Nick Perry (Stereo Workers Union, Paranoid Lovesick). Rounded out by bassist Derek Poindexter (The Waynes), Pale Hollow's music is being compared to The Kinks, Donovan, Alex Chilton, and Teenage Fanclub, and they are beginning to make their presence known.

City Breathing ▲

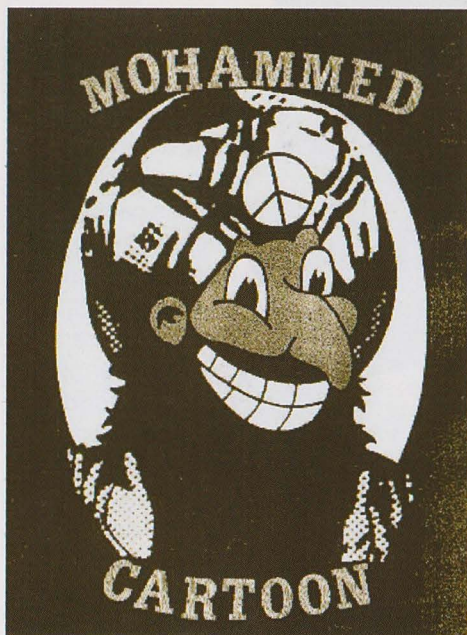

Fresh off playing the 2008 Ingenuity Festival, City Breathing brings a more ethereal feel to this year's Studio-A-Rama. Featuring Arun Antonyraj, Marwan Kanafani, and Ron Tucker (former drummer for Infinite Number of Sounds, who played Studio-A-Rama in 2003), the band will be augmented by Brent Gummow for video accompaniment. Expect a set of experimental gems from City Breathing during their Studio-A-Rama set.

receiving accolades for their mix of soulful pop and garage. Initially a solo act, Miss Melvis (vocals, guitar) is now joined by veteran local musicians drummer Rich Ellis (California Speedbag, Uva Ursi), and bassist Swell Bean (Curmudgeon, Chump, The Confidence Interval). Many of the bands have played Studio-A-Rama in the past, and we are glad to have

Mohammed Cartoon ▲

Mohammed Cartoon was formed as part of this past year's legendary Cleveland Lottery League project, where over 100 area musicians were chosen at random to form 33 bands. After the project showcase event, Mohammed Cartoon (John Neely-guitar, Rich Raponi-guitar, Jeff Curtis-bass, J. Guy-drums, Jim Karpinski-vocals) knew they had a good thing going and decided to continue on. Featuring college radio and music veterans from bands such as My Dad Is Dead, Gem, Self Destruct Button, and Giant Eagle, Mohammed Cartoon brings a strong musical pedigree to this year's Studio-A-Rama.

OwnWeatherOne ►

Kicking off this year's Studio-A-Rama, OwnWeatherOne will attempt to destroy it from the get-go. Easily the heaviest band of the day, OwnWeatherOne features Justin on bass and vocals, Brandon on drums, and perhaps a mystery guitarist? Taking their cue from bands like EyeHateGod and Neurosis, OwnWeatherOne has been crushing local venues over the last year, playing with bands like The Heroin Sheiks, Dan Deacon, and Clan Of The Cave Bear. Studio-A-Rama hopes to survive OwnWeatherOne's sonic onslaught.

WRUW 91.1 FM is the campus radio station of Case Western Reserve University. WRUW is a non-profit, commercial free, all-volunteer staffed radio station. The station broadcasts 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. Although WRUW is the student radio station of Case, numerous community volunteers and alumni are involved, giving WRUW a continuity not found in most college radio stations.

In addition to broadcasting at 15,000 watts, WRUW is also webcasting at www.wruw.org. WRUW streams its on-air signal, giving WRUW a worldwide audience. WRUW also archives every show on the air for a period one week, making them available for downloads.

WRUW prides itself on presenting a wide range of music not found on the commercial end of the dial. WRUW's programming encompasses jazz, rock, blues, folk, electronica, polkas, metal, international, reggae, and other forms of audio entertainment, making it one of the most diverse radio stations in existence. The guiding principle is to provide audio entertainment not readily available anywhere else. WRUW lives up to its motto "More Music, Fewer Hits".

In a recent issue of Details magazine, WRUW was named "the [Cleveland] area's most consistently eclectic college station." Additionally, Scene Magazine (a weekly free alternative newspaper in Cleveland) named WRUW "Cleveland's Best Radio Station" 3 years in a row.

If you're looking for radio the way it oughta be - no commercials, no jingles, no playlists, no payola, no corporate conglomerates - then you've found it at WRUW. Broadcasting at 15,000 watts, webcasting and archiving, and staffed by enthusiastic volunteer DJs who are given complete freedom to present the music of their choice in a unique, creative manner, WRUW is truly a beacon of light in a dark radio world.
